

This Week's Giroux's Gem is 30!

There are currently 30 Democrats in the House of Representatives from districts that President Donald Trump carried in the 2016 election. All of but one of them are currently seeking re-election in November: Dave Loebsack of Iowa's 2nd District is the only retiree in this group.

Whether Democrats can keep the majority they wrested from the Republicans in the 2018 election will depend in large part on how these Trump-district Democrats perform in the November election. Most of them were first elected in 2018 to districts previously held by Republicans. They've been raising large sums of campaign funds to gird themselves for serious re-election opposition from Republicans.
