

2020-2021 Target Weights Announced For CMCI

Bloomberg has announced the composition, target weights and individual tenor weights for the UBS Bloomberg Constant Maturity Commodity Index (CMCI).

The index composition will remain unchanged for the upcoming year. Agriculture will see the largest sector increase to 30.2% while Energy will have the largest sector decrease. WTI Crude Oils drops by 1.3%, the largest single commodity drop in the index. Gold will see the highest individual commodity weight increase, boosting the precious metal weight to 7.7%. Overall, CMCI will see weight increases in Agriculture, Precious Metals and Livestock, and decreases in Energy and Industrial Metals.

The new weights are effective after close of business on July 28, 2020.

Target weights for all 2020 CMCI components along with their individual tenor weights are provided in the table below:
