Global M&A Year in Review

By John E. Morris, Editor

Global M&A volume soared in 2015 to $4.3 trillion, surpassing its previous peak of $4.1 trillion in 2007. The most striking feature of the M&A landscape in 2015 was the number of very large deals — 57 worth more than $10 billion. That compares to 39 in 2007 and 50 in 2006. There were nine deals announced in 2015 worth more than $50 billion.

North America and Asia-Pacific accounted for the majority of M&A activity in 2015 while Europe and the rest of the world's contributions receded. The combined value of M&A involving North American targets was $2.3 trillion in 2015, up 27.8% from 2014, according to data compiled by Bloomberg. North America accounted for 53.5% of global deal volume in 2015, compared to a contribution of 43.9% in 2007. Meanwhile, European and Latin American deal volumes were each off more than 40% from their 2007 levels. European targets accounted for just 20.2% of deal value in 2015, compared to their 36.6% share in 2007.

Deal multiples — the prices buyers paid measured against key financial metrics — rose sharply. Median deal multiples for revenue (1.7x), net income (23.7x), Ebitda (11.2x) and free cash flow (33.1x) all surpassed their 2007 levels. The median multiples of revenue and free cash flow both rose more than 20% from 2014.

Global M&A Heat Map

Deal volume and adviser market share for any regional involvement (target, seller, or acquirer) for 2015.

Global M&A Regional Review

- Global merger and acquisition activity surged in 2015, reaching $4.3 trillion in volume and 38,644 in deal count, making it the most active year on record. The United States contributed $2.1 trillion in purchases representing 48.8% of global activity. The market environment in 2015 proved conducive for deal making due to the abundance of usable cash on corporate balance sheets, inexpensive debt, and low interest rates.
- Deals in the technology space swelled in 2015, attaining $364.8 billion in volume and over 5,000 in deal count, increasing 167.8% and 25.6% compared to 2014 figures respectively. Dell Inc's announced $63.5 billion purchase of EMC Corp contributed to 17.4% of the industry's increase and represented the largest technology deal announced on record.
- Due to the abundance of large deals, the average size of the top ten deals announced this year rose to $79.7 billion in 2015 up 81.1% from $44.0 billion of volume seen in 2014.

Bloomberg League Criteria

Announced Global League Tables are based upon announced total values, unless otherwise stated in the title. Non-US dollar values are converted to US dollars at the time of announcement.

Credit will be given to transactions in which Bloomberg classifies as mergers, acquisitions, divestitures, self-tenders, or spin-offs.

Regional and industry League Tables will be based on the country of risk and industry of the ultimate publicly traded parent of a privately held company where applicable.

Advisors to any member of an investor group, consortium, or joint venture are eligible for full credit.

Advisory fees hold no weight over advisory credit.

General Database Criteria

A transaction is considered to have been announced upon the release of terms offered by the acquirer, and acknowledgement of the offer by the target company.

Deals that are considered to be in proposed status will not be granted credit.
